- Galvanized steel provides corrosion resistance
- Provides insulation from shock & vibration
- PVC Coating is impervious to most chemicals
- Unlike neoprene cushioned clamps, PVC cushion will not come off during installation or use
- Strong and secure; excellent in automotive, industrial, hydraulic and electrical applications

Note: Non - insulated metal and other clamp styles are also available; please contact ICG for further information.

Our VSC and VSCH series clamps are made from galvanized steel with a PVC coating to protect applications from shock, vibration and chafing. Unlike neoprene cushioned clamps, PVC resists attack from most chemicals, solvents and petroleum products. The one piece design is stronger and more durable; it also ensures that the bonded PVC cushion will not move or separate during installation and adjustment the way that a two piece neoprene cushioned clamp can.
